

I have no personal objection to the proposed up-grade, but with the decreased difficulty to up-grade on their own, I question the advisability of rewarding these individuals for their lack of ambition.